

A photograph of two children dressed as skeletons for Halloween. They are wearing black hooded sweatshirts and have white face paint with black eye sockets, red lips, and black markings around their eyes. The child on the left is holding a glowing jack-o'-lantern and has a multi-colored reflective hula hoop around their neck. The child on the right is also holding a glowing jack-o'-lantern and has a similar reflective hula hoop. The background is a blurred outdoor setting at dusk or night.
